The Violence of Silence I

By Rev. Donald L. Perryman, D.Min.

The Truth Contributor

The brutal and senseless violence perpetrated upon women and children of all races, ethnicities and socioeconomic groups is beyond comprehension.

I don’t understand the brutality of Steubenville, Ohio. Rape of a 16 year-old girl by two teenage members of the high school football team. The recurring deaths of intelligent, talented, attractive and ambitious young women and children are threatening our nation’s future, and the church is not helping. As you’ve said, they’re carrying with them the wounds that are often not healed. So I just feel like it’s one of those opportunities and responsibilities that we have that we can’t let pass by.

Two Troubling Thoughts…...

By Lafe Tolliver, Esq
Guest Column

(1) It appears that any ban on high capacity assault weapons is doomed for failure in the U.S. Senate. Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid is taking the bill off of the floor for a vote because he contends that it will not pass and he wants to get some portion of the gun control law passed as opposed to nothing at all.

My thoughts on America and its eternal love affair with guns and more guns? Unless and until there is more bloodshed that makes American scream with moral outrage, the NRA will win with its “they want to take away your guns” “whiffle ball” arguments.

Until the cup is overflowing with the new blood of more innocents, America will shy away from substantial and meaningful gun control.

Specifically, until more American are killed with automatic weapon fire, America will shield its eyes and hope for the best.

Until there are more gruesome murders of bushel baskets full of innocents, America will deny it has an ongoing addiction with guns.

Only when the headlines repeatedly blare out about more mass killings of 10, 20, 50 and 100 innocents, will the cup of blood become so overflowing that America will change and come out of its stupor of loving blazing guns and red hot fire power.

Now regrettably, this cup of blood of the innocents will have to be filled to the brim by white people and white kids caught in the cross fire of gun nuts and psychos because the value of life of non-minorities only registers about three-fifths of the value of innocently shed white blood.

It seems that the country is immune to black-on-black gun crime and killings. Could you image the moral hue and cry if white folks and white kids were being murdered at the rate folks are in Detroit and Chicago but in such cities as Seattle or San Diego or White Plains (New York) or Tampa or Montgomery?

If that were to happen, Congress would be falling over its feet in passing meaningful gun laws including the banning of assault weapons and high-capacity ammo drums.

Don’t believe me? Look at the slaughter houses also known as Detroit and Chicago and other urban cities. Folks in those cities have been systematically, so it seems, shooting down black folks for years and it is to the point that new murders do not hardly register as a moral outrage on the national news. We are seemingly immune to blacks killing blacks. But, if you start getting more Newtowns (Connecticut) and Columbines (Colorado), white folks will become inenced and then, and only then, will that white-fueled rage intimidate the NRA and force the spineless members in the House and Senate to take real notice of the carnage, black and white. Until that time comes and I hope it never does, we will simply put Band-Aids on the gun problem and run for cover when the NRA bel lows and rants and raves about guns being our alter ego and that with our assault weapons or with the infringement of universal background checks, we are ripe for a takeover by the evil Obama-led government.

(2) Here is a statistic that will leave you breathless and trembling for the future of the black family. According to The Guttmacher Institute (Guttmacher.org), young black teenage girls are aborting babies twice as fast as their racial counterparts.

This study further indicates that blacks are doing the abortion scene at an alarming rate in that we make up 13 percent of the population but have 30 percent of the recorded abortions!

So, what does that portend for the black family? We are slowing erasing multitudes who would be members of a generation of black men and women.

We are throwing away future marriage partners for future generations of black men and women. We are diluting our population. We are treating life with contempt and do not honor the life that is gestating within the womb.

For whatever reason or rationale, the carrier of the black family, the black woman (albeit too many unmarried teenagers are engaged in this behavior) is terminating life and is not giving life. Abortion is different from birth control. With birth control, conception is not allowed. With abortion, conception has taken place and a life is being prepared to enter the world but is cruelly cut short by a decision to end that precious life.

I know…I know…you may not want me preaching about the sanctity of life and that life starts in the womb and that, before you were born, God knew the exact number of days for your life and that He wove together in the womb, the yet-to-be-born child.

So… what does an abortion mean besides a life lost? It means that we have said no to God’s intent for that life to be born and we have played “god.” So… between the horrific incidents of the untimely deaths of blacks, male and female, by gun violence, we then add on the incalculable loss of black life created in the image of God and we have a recipe for disaster for the successful future of the black family.

If you take the position that life begins in the womb, the issue of abortion being a private right is pure nonsense because no one is advocating as a “guardian” for the life that cannot yet speak up for his or her rights.

The argument has been couched under the terms of a woman having the sole right to take control of her body and that control includes aborting an unwanted fetus. But when a life starts in the womb, that sole control “by the woman is a now a consideration that must include the best interests of the unborn child.”

As an aside, when you read the life of Margaret Sanger, the founder of Planned Parenthood, you will find that she made statements that can be possibly seen as a belief in the elimination of black person and she spoke at KKK rallies. (See: The Career of Margaret Sanger by David Kennedy and see also: the website: The National Black Pro-Life Union and its story about the Negro Project which was a favorite project of Margaret Sanger).

This abortion issue within the black community is doing a ghastly job of partially thinning out future generations of black people and it appears to be no hue and cry from us! Depending on which statistics you come across, since 1973, millions of black babies have been silenced by the means of abortion. I am too overwhelmed to cry about it.

Rep. Ashford Announces State Funding for Elderly and Disabled Services

$16K approved to help connect residents of rental housing with community assistance

State Representative Michael Ashford (D-Toledo) announced last week that the State Controlling Board has approved a grant in the amount of $16,000 for the Ohio Department of Aging’s Resident Services Coordinator Program. The program is designed to help connect disabled and low-income residents with services and benefits in their community.

I am pleased to see that tenants of The Renaissance will be in a better position to access services and benefits to help maintain their independence,” said Ashford. “It is so important that all people can feel safe and secure with necessities such as housing. Our local Area Office on Aging does great work.”

Through the grant, the Area Office on Aging will be able to hire a part time service coordinator for residents at The Renaissance. Resident service coordinators can help tenants maintain apartments, comply with lease terms and increase access to integrated housing for people with disabilities.
At its March meeting, members of Brighten Up Community Organizing voted unanimously to change their group’s name to “Kwanzaa Park Neighbors.”

“We wanted a name that would better tell people what we do and where we are located,” said Oscar Shaheer, president of the organization and co-owner of “Your Community Market,” located on Nebraska Avenue.

Kwanzaa Park Neighbors focuses on the neighborhood south of Dorr Street, bounded by Brown and Hawley Avenues, and originally named “Kuschwantz,” meaning “cow’s tail” in German. Shaheer explained that the name was given by neighboring Germans to the Polish neighborhood, and referred to its being at the “tail end” of the trolley line.

In 2010, Brighten Up Community Organizing sponsored a contest to “name the neighborhood” and “Kwanzaa Park” won. Kwanzaa is a celebration based on the African communitarian philosophy of Kwaada. Brighten Up, now Kwanzaa Park Neighbors, is working with Toledo City Council to get signage installed.

Brighten Up Community Organizing was formed in 2008 as a result of a successful effort on the part of neighborhood residents working with UT students and the City of Toledo to improve neighborhood street lighting. “Brighten Up” referred not only to the lights, but also to an attitude. Two of the original Brighten Up members, Brenda Witcher and Phyllis Toney, were both supportive of the organization’s new name.

Member Jacqueline LaBiche said she liked the name Kwanzaa Park Neighbors because it “sounds friendly,” which is what the organization is all about. Sr. Virginia Welsh, also a member and director of the Padua Center, noted that for those of a religious bent, the name “neighbors” resonates with Jesus’s teachings on the importance of everyone acting like everyone’s neighbor.

Washington Muhammad, who is a board member of the group and program coordinator for Self Expression Teen Theater, liked emphasizing that the group consists of “neighbors.” “Some people work in the neighborhood, some own businesses, some worship, and some live here,” he explained. “We are all neighbors.”

“Some people work in the neighborhood, some own businesses, some worship, and some live here. We are all neighbors.”

Lynee Hamer, who lives near the neighborhood and teaches at University of Toledo, liked it because even though the group focuses on its own neighborhood, it also reaches out to the larger Toledo community. For example, this summer the group is hosting a teachers’ workshop, “From Kuschwantz to Kwanzaa Park,” sponsored by the Ohio Humanities Council and taught through UT. “Kwanzaa Park Neighbors is inviting teachers from throughout Ohio in to learn from the neighborhood,” she stated.

Along with the new neighborhood name and new organization name, Kwanzaa Park Neighbors is working on a new logo. “This will appear on letterhead and on signs around the neighborhood,” Shaheer explained. As with the neighborhood’s name, its logo will be chosen through a contest. Five entries have been received. Anyone with an interest in the neighborhood is invited to vote by stopping by the Padua Center at 1416 Nebraska, between 9 a.m. – 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Any neighbors, from inside or outside the neighborhood itself, are invited to come the Kwanzaa Park Neighbors monthly meetings, held the first Thursday of every month from 6 – 7 p.m. at the Padua Center, 1416 Nebraska Avenue, with parking accessed from Junction Avenue. Call the Padua Center at 419-241-6465 for details.
Justice Judith Ann Lanzinger Addresses Law and Leadership Institute Graduates

Special to The Truth

The first class to enter the Law and Leadership Institute (LLI) at The University of Toledo College of Law graduated from the program on March 16. Justice Judith Ann Lanzinger ’77 of the Supreme Court of Ohio was the keynote speaker.

The 18 graduates, all seniors at local high schools, participated in a mock trial competition against LLI students from the University of Akron School of Law in the Cubbon Courtroom at the Law Center. The commencement ceremony followed in the Law Center’s McQuade Law Auditorium.

Supported by the Ohio State Bar Foundation, the Supreme Court of Ohio, Ohio’s nine law schools, and others, LLI is a statewide initiative to help prepare students from underserved communities for post-secondary success through a four-year academic program in law, leadership, analytical thinking, and writing skills. Toledo Law’s LLI program began in 2009 with a single ninth grade class; a new class has joined the program each following year.

“We are very proud of the students we have worked with in the Law and Leadership Institute, especially those we have seen grow during the past four years. We are grateful to all of the sponsors for supporting this effort to diversify the legal profession,” said Daniel J. Steinbock, dean of the College of Law.

The LLI program was piloted in Columbus and Cleveland in 2008, and has since grown to more than 400 high school students on eight law school campuses across the state. LLI students begin the program during the summer before their freshman year. It’s a five-week long program that runs from Monday through Friday 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. LLI students hear from local attorneys and judges, go on weekly field trips, and end the program with a mock trial. The program continues into the school year on select Saturday afternoons.

The program is a free program open to incoming ninth graders in the Toledo area. Lunch is provided and help with transportation through the bus system can be arranged. In addition, students are awarded with a stipend for successfully completing the summer program.

How to apply:

Go to www.lawandleadership.org and click on “LLI Cities.” Go to the Toledo site. Click on “Apply” and click on the application. You can type right on the application from the site and then print it off. Once completed, mail the application to:

Marilyn Preston
University of Toledo, College of Law
2801 W. Bancroft, MS 507
Toledo, OH 43606

2013 summer dates: June 24 to July 26

Student interested in the program, should let their teacher or counselor know so they can get information to LLI. Completed application should be submitted before the April 15 deadline.

Any further questions, feel free to contact Site Coordinator Michelle Tussing at 419-450-2220 or at michelle.tussing@gmail.com.
On Wednesday, March 20, 2013 The African American Legacy Project unveiled its Easter Egg Tree to the media and community. The tree signifies new beginnings and also serves as a reminder of the Easter Egg Hunt the AALP will host on Easter Sunday March 31, 2013 at their new home located at 1326 Collingwood.

This will be the first event hosted by the Legacy Project since their move in October. Positioned right at the cusp of the community, the new location is believed to have the ability to serve as a “Beacon of Hope” for the entire community.

Bernadette Graham, AALP program coordinator, said the Easter Egg Hunt will be a safe, fun, and positive event for the community. “We want to establish a relationship with children in the community with our emerging leaders as much as possible, our up-and-coming leaders in the community are very positive role models for the children,” she said.

Activities for children age toddler through grade six will be conducted by the 2012 Emerging Leaders. The Easter Bunny will be on hand to greet the children. The Glass City Brothers United will be present to provide fire safety information. The event will take place from 2-4 pm.

The Toledo Urban Federal Credit Union sponsored its first free income tax assistance program in January 2002. The tradition continues this year at the credit union’s location on Dorr Street.

“We are happy to bring this free service to the people of our community,” CEO Suzette Cowell said years ago. It’s a sentiment that holds true today.

For more information on the tax assistance program, call 419-255-8876.

The tax assistance program is sponsored by The Toledo Journal, Fifth Third Bank, Seagate Office Products, RC Olmstead Inc, and The Sojourner’s Truth Newspaper.

given tips on how to interview, look the part and how to have to right attitude in various settings. The art of introduction was demonstrated as they attempted to get to know each other. Throughout the workshop the young ladies were encouraged to sit properly, walk correctly and what not to wear that included hair and make-up. A working lunch was provided and debutantes and debs in waiting got a chance to interact with each other and share ideas. After the seminar, lunch was served which offered the young women an opportunity to become better acquainted with each other.

Wilma Brown, Cotillion chairman, spoke of the scholarships provided through The University of Toledo and provided other helpful hints and information. This is the 49th Annual Cotillion and Brown has been instrumental in its success. This year’s Cotillion - Debutante Ball will be held in The Great Hall at the Stranahan on Saturday, May 25 at 7 pm.
Banding Together for a Cause

By Carla Yvette

Mom’s House Executive Director Christina Rodríguez welcomed the opportunity to “band together” with local band FUSION and vocalist and recording artist, Leah Williams, on March 23, for a fun night of fundraising at the Blackwoods Grill located on Holland-Sylvania Rd.

The fundraiser titled “Let’s Band Together” was an exciting way to turn a night on the town into an opportunity to raise money for the organization that offers help and resources for at-risk single parents.

Supporters enjoyed casual dining while listening to music as FUSION fascinated the crowd with music from various genres and eras; performing hits from artist such as Earth, Wind and Fire, Carrie Underwood and Bruno Mars, followed by the intimate, jazzy sounds of Leah Williams.

Founded in 1983 in Johnstown, PA, by a group of Citizens Concerned for Human Life, Mom’s House® offers single parents, facing unplanned pregnancy, with a viable, practical alternative to the despair of abortion and the tragedy of welfare...

Behind The Laughs with Luenell

By Monique Ward

Sojourner’s Truth Reporter

Monique Ward: Not sure if many people know this but you started out in theater. Can you tell us about that?

Luenell: I don’t necessarily promote it but people who are aware or in tune, can tell that I do a little more with my voice and facial expressions than other comics would do.

MW: Did you ever picture yourself when you were younger having a thriving career in comedy? Luenell: No because when I started in theater, there was no real future in comedy. The only comedians I knew were Bill Cosby, Redd Fox, Lawanda Page, so on and so forth. There was no Comic View, Comedy Central, Def Comedy Jam or anything like that when I started. That wasn’t even my goal to be in comedy but my goal was to be in entertainment in some form or fashion.

MW: When your mom passed away, may she rest in peace, you became pregnant with your first and only child. How did that affect your thinking and career?

Luenell: My mind was not clear several months after that. I didn’t even really acknowledge my pregnancy until the fifth month so it’s a miracle that my child is as healthy, talented and beautiful as she is today.

MW: When you started doing comedy, you were getting accolades for your work from well-known comics from the beginning. How did that make you feel?

Luenell: Even to this day, getting pats on the back and words of encouragement from my peers or the ones that have gone before me is all wonderful.

MW: With all your accomplishments, including touring with Katt Williams and movies under your belt, if you can have any gig you wanted, what would that be?

Luenell: Of course we don’t know the opportunities that are to come upon us but if I was to have my wishes granted...I would want my own sitcom and a primetime network show. Also a non-political late night talk show would be nice and a counseling show for young children.

MW: What major events, movies or shows do you have coming up?

Luenell: I have a show at the Theater at Madison Square Garden on April Fool’s Day (April 1) which I’m very excited about. It’s sponsored by Hot 97 & Tracy Morgan will be hosting it. I have a movie coming out in the summer called School Dance written and directed by Nick Cannon starring Kevin Hart, George Lopez, Katt Williams, Mike Epps and myself. I also have a television show that I starred in called, “Who Gets The Last Laugh?” by Ashton Kutcher, where comedians compete by doing the best prank to win $10,000 to give to their favorite charity. I already know who won but you will have to watch it yourself to find out.

Luenell will be headlining, with Rodney Perry, Red Grant and Micheal Blackson, the Mother’s Day Show at The Stranahan Theater on May 12 in Toledo, Ohio. Tickets are available for sale now.

Lavell Crawford at Fat Fish/Funny Bone

By Monique Ward

Sojourner’s Truth Reporter

Funnyman Lavell Crawford is quickly climbing the comedic ranks and becoming one rising comedy star to watch. From his numerous television appearances and on stage performances, audiences are becoming increasingly familiar with Lavell’s giant-sized talent.

Lavell has appeared on Comedy Central’s Premium Blend and also was a Finalist in the Comedy Central Laugh Riots standup competition. Lavell has headlined at Laffapalooza, America’s longest-running annual urban comedy festival, appeared on “Jamie Foxx Presents: Laffapalooza” a series of half-hour laugh-out-loud comedy specials that aired on Showtime and Comedy Central and subsequently headlined at the Montreal Just for Laughs Festival and appeared at The HBO USCAF in Aspen, Co. and The Comedy Festival in Las Vegas. His “Comedy Central Presents” half-hour special premiered on Comedy Central in 2009.

Lavell Crawford will be at Fat Fish Blue/Funny Bone Comedy Club in Perrysburg from Thursday, March 28 to Saturday March 30. Tickets are $25 & can be purchased by calling the Funny Bone box office at 419.931.3474 or going to funnybonecentral.com online.
Owens Community College to Host Regional Job Fair, April 5

Special to The Truth

Area college and university graduates and students are invited to learn about and explore various employment opportunities available throughout the surrounding region as Owens Community College serves as host to the Collegiate Employ-Net Regional Job Fair on Friday, April 5.

Presented by Collegiate Employ-Net, a consortium of 19 colleges and universities in Northwest Ohio and Southeast Michigan, the regional job fair will occur from 10 a.m. – 2 p.m. in the College’s Student Health and Activities Center on the Toledo-area Campus. Owens is located on Oregon Road in Perrysburg Township. Job seekers holding a certificate or degree are invited to attend this free event. Professional attire and a resume are required.

Throughout the event, individuals can meet with over 70 business and industry representatives about employment opportunities. In addition, attendees will be able to fill out applications for various employment opportunities. Individuals are also encouraged to bring several copies of their resume in preparation for any impromptu interviews.

The Ohio Benefit Bank is Changing Lives in Our Community
Join the movement as a national service member in Lucas County

Special to The Truth

You may know that The Toledo Northwestern Food Bank provides food and other resources to people in need to low-income families, children, and the elderly in Lucas and surrounding counties. But you may not know about The Ohio Benefit Bank, a program that is making an impact on the low-and moderate-income households The Toledo Northwestern Food Bank serves.

The Ohio Benefit Bank (OBB) is a program operated statewide by the Ohio Association of Foodbanks. Local organizations, like The Toledo Northwestern Food Bank, are recruited and trained to use the program to help individuals and families in their community access important work support programs and tax credits. Since 2006, the OBB network has served more than 6,937 households in Lucas County, potentially returning over $38,518,401 in work supports and tax credits to the local economy. The Toledo Northwestern Food Bank is now recruiting for 2 passionate individuals to join the movement as national service members working on enhancing and strengthening the OBB.

“The most remarkable part of serving through AmeriCorps VISTA is the personal and professional growth that you can gain from the personal sacrifice you make to serve your local community and country,” said Alesha Rademan, OBB regional coordinator for the Ohio Association of Foodbanks. “The Ohio Benefit Bank has grown to be one of the nation’s most successful application completion assistance programs thanks to the dedication of national service members, and there is still much work to be done to grow and expand the program in Lucas County.”

The national service members at The Toledo Northwestern Food Bank will serve through AmeriCorps VISTA, a national initiative to fight poverty in America that is funded and operated by the Corporation for National and Community Service. AmeriCorps VISTA members receive a modest living stipend at the federal poverty level and an end-of-year education award in return for their year of full-time service to local communities. If you or someone you know is interested in serving through AmeriCorps VISTA, visit www.americorps.gov to view current openings for OBB community organizers.

The Incredible Burt Wonderstone

Steve Carell / Jim Carey

By Michael Hayes
Minister of Culture

I expected more.
Not even just from the movie itself, but even the promotion.
I damn near found out about this by accident. One misplaced swipe on my phone while on Facebook and I was brought to a page with a wideshot of Michael Scott from “The Office” dressed like a cheesy 80s glam rock star. So like any modern day movie goer, I googled and IMDB’d my way into a base grasp of the premise.

Steve Carell is Burt Wonderstone… a Vegas magician who seems to have quirky reactions to self-generated awkward situations, sort of like, well… Michael Scott, his character from “The Office.” I guess winning multiple Emmys has a way of boring a guy in. But Jim Carrey made me feel like, “okay, I need to see this.” I’ll say it again, I expected more.

The name “Burt Wonderstone” as a magician just screams Judd Apatow. He’s the man who brought you “Ron Burgundy,” “Ricky Bobby,” “Drillbit Taylor” and other movies where the lead character’s name serves as thesis and running gag in comedies so hilarious you get laugh-pains in your skull!

Well, the silly name is here… but the Judd Apatow and the laugh pains are absent. Wonderstone becomes a magician after a childhood of being teased and picked on. His Las Vegas act with his best friend as co-star has grown dry and boring. He stubbornly remains fixed in his own delusions of grandeur despite multiple scenarios signaling his fall from fame and fortune is eminent.

He has the typical slow-moving change of heart, partly inspired by his childhood hero, and aims to put his life back together.

Wow, and people call Tyler Perry movies formulaic.

In the middle of the humdrum however, is Jim Carrey’s portrayal of Steve Gray.

One of the writers must have a serious vendetta against Criss Angel (I miss his show).

The entire Steve Gray character is an unflattering parody so thematically based on Criss Angel’s MindFreak that he should probably collect a few percentage points on this film.

Jim Carrey’s wacky stunts and often-sided tracked role as Burt Wonderstone’s nemesis happen to be the most consistently entertaining comedic bits in the entire film.

There’s a forgettable, barely believable love interest played by an otherwise outstanding Olivia Wilde. I laughed here and there… and the plot develops quickly. It’s not awful, it’s just not as good as it could have been. Overall, it was a mediocre film that completely mis-used the truly gifted comedic genius at its disposal.

Maybe rent it one day down the line with lots of backup comedies in tow.

The true grade for The Incredible Burt Wonderstone is D.

We Can Help Ourselves by Helping Each Other

By Carla Yvette
Soulcial Scene Editor

As someone who has advocated strongly for the understanding and celebration of diversity and as someone who has led initiatives to help celebrate diversity and cross-cultural understanding, I believe that understanding and learning about different cultures and racial backgrounds can only serve to enlighten and enhance us as individuals and as a society.

I believe that understanding other cultures and ethnic groups is a necessary and integral part of progress. Furthermore, I believe we as a people would not be where we are today if not for the contributions and sacrifices made by people of other races who fought and died right alongside our ancestors for some of the liberties we experience today.

But, while I respect and understand the importance of cross-cultural unity, I don’t believe it should be at the expense of embracing our own racial identity, or be a reason to abdicate our need to work and advocate for the betterment of our community. If we don’t value ourselves and each other enough to work toward changing our communities, how can we expect others to?

Immigrants who come to America succeed because they help each other out. There’s often a strong network of support waiting for them when they arrive, ready to provide them with temporary housing, help them find jobs and will even pool their money together to provide no interest loans to help them start their businesses.

This is the type of support that attributed to the success of The Black Wall Street before it was subsequently destroyed. Greenwood, Oklahoma, also known as The Black Wall Street was a place where affluent African Americans lived and owned churches, restaurants, grocery stores and movie theaters, hospitals, banks, post offices, libraries, schools, law offices, a half-dozen private airplanes and a bus system. A place where the dollar circulated 36 to 100 times before leaving the community.

It all ended June 1, 1921 during the Tulsa race riots. What happened to this community has been described by some as “A Black Holocaust in America.” A prosperous community destroyed because of jealousy, envy and racial hate.

The point to ponder, however, is not how and why it happened, but more importantly how a community during the height of racism, thrived and prospered to the point of owning over 600 businesses. They thrived and prospered because of their unity and dependency upon each other.

F.A.M.E. Fashion Show . . . WOW!

By Carla Yvette

Fashion. Art. Models and Elegance made up the F.A.M.E Fashion Show presented with high intensity March 23 at the Garden Lake Hall on Dorr Street.

Young, old and every “Diva” and “Don” in between showed up to watch the models and dancers “show out” as they rocked the runway in clothes designed by local designers.

Theo Pritchett, one of the event organizers and founder of “Mature Night Life” said, “This was an opportunity to promote local designers and shine a positive light on the urban community by bringing everybody together in a positive nature.”

His goal, along with event partners, Cuntry, founder of “Famous Endorsement” and Shawanda Johnson, a.k.a Spyda of F.A.M.E.D Studios, was to show that Toledo does have talented, fashionable people. Mission accomplished!

The trio produced an event that will be talked about for weeks to come. The show highlighted fashion from designers: Demange, John Dough, Ayne K Design, Ms. Nette’s Couture, Original Suspects, Priceless Designs, Tierre Leone, Dapper Designs, Bittersweet and DeeVaz N Diamonds. This sold out event was hosted by Comedian Demeco (Continued on Page 10)
