Proactive and Progressive Crime Policy

Most of our problems can be solved. Some of them will take brains, and some of them will take patience, but all of them will have to be wrestled with like an alligator in the swamp.

- Harold Washington

Freddie Gray’s funeral and ensuing massive protests in Baltimore this past Monday highlight black frustrations near the boiling point in nearly every city in America. Toledo is no exception. My prayers go out to the Gray family, the Scott family in North Charleston, South Carolina, the Pope family in Toledo, and the families of black men and women who are dying in epidemic numbers across the country as a result of encounters with police.

It is time for a multi-pronged strategy that halts the killing of black citizens by police, including working together with law enforcement and local government to shape the criminal justice system in a manner that fosters accountability and trust as well as delivers justice to all of its citizens.

I brought my concern that, statistically, unarmed black men, women and children were being killed by law enforcement at extraordinary rates compared to others, to Sheriff John Tharp in August 2014. We discussed potential local policy changes to improve relations between law enforcement and the community.

My recommendation was that body cameras be mandated for all patrol deputies, according to best practices and standard operations. It was an opportunity for Tharp to be simultaneously proactive and progressive in a town that has been politically sluggish in addressing the needs of its citizens of color. The Sheriff promised that he would implement my recommendation.

Currently, the Lucas County Sheriff’s department patrols eight housing sites operated by LMHA within the city of Toledo along with Monclova, Jerusalem, Springfield, and Providence townships. The 33 officers that patrol the Toledo sites include seven black males and three black females, and are under the command... continued on page 3

Winners Named at Statewide MLK Oratorical Contest

Ohio students inspired by the lessons and legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., presented original speeches on his teachings during the 16th Annual Statewide MLK Oratorical Contest held this month in Columbus.

Twenty-two regional contest winners from grades kindergarten through 12 spoke before family, friends and judges at the King Arts Complex.

Speakers were judged on performance, originality and composition.

The following speakers placed first, second and third in their respective divisions:

Senior Division (grades nine through 12)
- First place – Holly Warthem, 15, 10th-grader, Lima Senior High School, Lima; second place – Teccorra Bracey, 17, 11th-grader, Harding High School, Marion; third place – Ayobami Balogun, 16, 11th-grader, Eastmoor Academy High School, Columbus.

Junior Division (grades six through eight)
- First place – Bre’Anna Walker, 13, seventh-grader, Columbus City Preparatory School for Girls, Columbus; second place – Morayo Obayemi, 14, eighth-grader, Columbus City Preparatory School for Girls, Columbus; third place – Cyndey Platt, 11, sixth-grader, Columbus Academy, Columbus.

First-place finishers are invited to speak at the 2016 Ohio Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday Commission. The celebration and oratorical contest are sponsored by the Ohio Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday Commission. The commission is housed in the Equal Opportunity Division of the Ohio Department of Administrative Services.

“Just like Dr. King, these young people showed courage and determination. The way they hopped on stage showed they are the leaders of their generation,” said the Rev. Joel L. King, Jr., vice chairman of the Ohio Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday Commission.

of Captain Thomas Walker, an African American.

On April 21, 2015, Sheriff Tharp fulfilled his promise when he and the Lucas County Commissioners became the first in Toledo to pull the trigger on what is expected to become the “new normal” for 21st century policing by announcing receipt of 17 new body cameras and a policy for their usage.

How does this affect the community?

For certain, the technology will provide increased transparency and accountability. Both citizens and sheriff’s deputies are likely to be on their best behavior, knowing that they are on camera. Elsewhere, the implementation of body cameras has resulted in a reduction of abuse and excessive force. The prospect of losing a pension due to the “objective testimony” of technology is a risk that even many of the most sadistic law enforcement officers are not willing to take and thus acts as a strong deterrent. The objectivity of the cameras will also provide evidentiary benefits to both officers and citizens whenever they encounter one another.

However, the body cameras are not a panacea for rebuilding the hope that justice will be served for all members of our society.

Lucas County Sheriff Department personnel will still be in full control of the recordings. Things can get dicey if a deputy shuts off the body camera prior to a citizen encounter, claim equipment failure, or fail to record an incident properly. Currently, the cameras buffer (record but not save) for the first 30 seconds after it is activated upon contact with citizens.

Recordings will be stored at evidence.com, which could become an expensive budget line item. The footage, according to Sheriff Tharp, will be available via public records request if not a part of an ongoing investigation and will be kept for only 30 days after a criminal case concludes, or for six months otherwise.

Yet, both Eric Garner’s strangulation in New York and John Crawford’s shooting death in Beavercreek, Ohio were captured on video with no resulting indictment in either case.

Just as important as the cameras, then, is a competent, diverse, transparent and accessible staff that is committed to authentic engagement with the citizens of our community. We have that in John Tharp and the Lucas County Sheriff’s Department, who are trained to approach residents to “get to know and help them solve problems, rather than merely responding to a situation in order to make an arrest.”

The implementation of the body cameras, along with this progressive community approach, whereby deputies are “trained to handle people and to deal with diverse cultures,” are what sets the Lucas County Sheriff’s Department apart from its law enforcement peers in Toledo.

The Toledo Fair Housing Center held their 40th Anniversary Gala and WGTE Toledo Stories Documentary Premiere April 23 at the Valentine Theatre.

Gustavo Velasquez, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development Assistant Secretary for Fair Housing and Equal Opportunity was the featured speaker for the event.

Cocktails and grazing stations were provided by Georgio’s Cafe International, and guests enjoyed the world premiere of the WGTE Public Media documentary of Toledo’s continued struggle for housing equality and a glimpse into what’s to come for the organization.

In 1975, the Fair Housing Center was founded on the principles of community, tolerance, and justice. It was a commitment to these principles that ignited the Women of the Old West End Neighborhood Association and several other concerned citizens and community groups to establish an organization that would combat discriminatory housing practices.

Over the past 40 years, the Center has carried out its mission through the investigation of over 11,500 complaints, resulting in awards of over $30 million for victims of discrimination. During this time, the Center has also demonstrated a talent for setting national precedents in the enforcement of fair housing laws and expanding housing opportunities for millions of Americans.

The Center conducts multiple educational outreach programs, provides housing and foreclosure prevention counseling services, advocates for the rights of victims, investigates and litigates allegations of housing discrimination. The Center’s staff is one of the best in the country, and their achievements have been recognized at the local, state and national levels.

June Boyd Celebrates Her 80th with Family and Friends … Lots of Friends

Sojourner’s Truth Staff

June Boyd, former Toledo City Council member, Democratic Party activist, Lucas County Board of Elections member, among many other accomplishments, celebrated her 80th birthday in April at the Gesu Banquet Hall surrounded by hundreds of family members, friends and colleagues for the special occasion.

Boyd, a trailblazer in the Toledo community, began setting the pace as a teenager when she attended Buckeye Girls’ States, was crowned Miss Sepia City and was the first African American to graduate from St. Ursula Academy.

She was one of the founding members of the Toledo Club National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women’s Club and helped organize the Democratic Business and Professional Women’s Club of Lucas County.

In 1993, Boyd, along with current State Sen. Edna Brown, were the first two African-American women elected to City Council.
Welcome Brian Collins: Columbia Gas of Ohio, Operations Center Manager

Special to The Truth

ASSETS Toledo hosted a Networking Reception April 23 at Our Brothers Place to welcome Brian Collins, the first minority to lead Toledo Operations for Columbia Gas.

Brian Collins, in his 32nd year of service at Columbia Gas of Ohio, was hired in 1984 as a meter reader. He has spent the majority of his career as a service technician specializing in large industrial customer account service, maintenance and inspection.

In 2006 Collins was awarded a leadership position advancing to Leader of Field Operations for the North Pointe Operations Center near Cleveland Ohio.

In 2012, he was promoted to Operation Center Manager of the Columbia Gas of Ohio’s Great Trail office located in Salem, Ohio. In April of 2014, the move to Toledo Operations Center made him the first minority to lead Toledo Operations and the second minority to lead a major city for Columbia Gas of Ohio.

As a manager, Collins is responsible for regulatory compliance and safety of all Toledo Operations, employees and 170,000 customers in the Toledo Metropolitan and outlying areas. He currently serves as co-leader of Columbia Gas of Ohio’s Inclusion and Diversity State Steering Committee and he is also on the Columbus Ohio Chapter’s Board of Directors for AABE (American Association of Blacks in Energy).

AABE specializes in promoting the advancement of minorities in the energy business and awards scholarships to minorities that excel in academics. Collin’s interests include a love and study of science especially Quantum Physics, completing a degree in electrical engineering and inventing.

His true joy and gifts are his wife and children. Collin’s philosophy is simple, “The higher you go up in leadership, the more of a servant you must become.”

VOTE for RUTH ASHFORD - Toledo District 4 City Council!!

My life has been devoted to public service. I have served as an accounting and financial expert for state government for years; as a volunteer for various agencies and organization; as a volunteer on numerous political campaigns. As your elected representative on Toledo City Council protecting the interests of both the citizens in District 4 and all of the City of Toledo, I pledge to:

1. Foster economic development by working to create jobs for our citizens, by working with agencies and companies to enhance business development and to increase residential opportunities in our district;
2. Ensure that our most precious possessions, our children, are given every possible opportunity to obtain the best possible education;
3. Ensure that our children are provided within their own neighborhoods, the ability to take advantage of every possible recreational opportunity; and
4. Ensure that our neighborhoods are made as safe as possible by providing the best protection our safety forces can summon.

50th Annual Mother-Daughter Luncheon

The Toledo Club of The National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women’s Clubs, Inc, celebrated the upcoming 50th Anniversary of the Cotillion with its annual Mother-Daughter Luncheon on April 25 at the Inverness Country Club.

This year the Toledo Club is presenting 17 young women to society on Saturday May 23 at the Stranahan and the Mother-Daughter Luncheon is a perennial prelude to the main event.

This past weekend, Club member Karen Jarrett, luncheon chairman, opened the event and served as mistress of ceremonies. Club President Denise Black-Poon offered the welcome and after the preliminaries and lunch, each of the debutantes and their mothers, or guardians, were introduced and asked to describe their relationship.

After the tearful expressions of mutual love and gratitude, the young women were apprised of the next step in the Cotillion event – the talent show – by talent co-chairmen, Deborah Carlisle and Beverly Tucker.

Closing out the luncheon, Cotillion Chairman Wilma Brown, who has helped to guide the event since the onset, addressed the attendees on some of the issues they will face this year.

Next Saturday, as part of this year’s celebration of the Cotillion’s Silver Anniversary, a reunion of past debutantes is on the calendar.

Black Lives Matter418 Rally

By Carla Yvette
Society Editor

The Community Solidarity Response Network of Toledo held a Black Lives Matter418 Rally, April 18 at the Frederick Douglass Community Association.

The group, which formed in November following a grand jury decision not to indict Officer Darren Wilson in the shooting death of Michael Brown in Ferguson, Mo., works to “facilitate progressive community–based events that help to foster self-development, and discuss measures to hold local leadership accountable to their sworn duties. Over 200 community members as well as several local organizations came out to show support.

The crowd was entertained by singer Paige Jenkins, Touch A Dream Dance Studio, Imagine Clay Ave. Step Team, DJ Lyte-N-Rod and Cuntry of 97.3 FM.

Speakers for the event included, Washington Muhammad; Comedian Darrell Banks; Gerald Rose, founder/CEO of New Order National Human Rights Organization and Mayor Paula-Hicks Hudson.

Lucas County Children Services responded to 4,271 reports of suspected child abuse in 2014.

Nearly half of them were for children under the age of five.

April is Child Abuse Prevention Month. If you believe a Lucas County child is at risk of being abused or neglected, call LCCS at 419-213-2273 (CARE).
Three Steps to Improve Your Credit

Good credit is a key ingredient in succeeding financially; yet building a strong foundation takes time. If you are new to credit or are working to improve it, there are many steps you can take to put you on a path to stronger credit.

Here are three essential steps that help you get started:

• Check your credit report: Experts recommend checking your credit report at least once a year. Your credit report contains details of your credit history, including balances, credit limit, and payment status. Lenders, apartment managers, and some employers may check your credit report to see how responsible you are with money.

When you check your report, make sure it contains current and accurate information. If you find errors, correct them as soon as possible because they may negatively impact your credit score and even indicate possible identity theft. You can request a free copy of your credit report from each of three major credit reporting agencies — Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion — once each year at www.annualcreditreport.com or call toll-free 1-877-322-8228.

• Make sure you’re paying your bills on time: Life happens and you may find yourself forgetting to pay a bill on time. Because your payment history is one of the biggest factors in your credit score, it’s important that you stay organized and keep track of all your bills. This applies to more than just credit card bills, but also when it comes to rent, utilities, and cell phone payments.

Using free online tools, often available through your financial institution’s online banking, can help you develop a budget and create an automatic bill payment schedule. Many financial institutions also allow you to change your payment due dates for one that is convenient for you. If it helps, you can organize all your payments to be due on the same day of the month.

• Make a budget and stick to it: One of the best ways to keep up with your bills is to closely monitor your spending. Creating a budget can help you decide when to use credit and when to hold off on a purchase. Keeping a budget is also helpful because lenders look at the amount of debt a consumer has compared to their income.

As an important rule of thumb, keep debt at no more than 35 percent of your income or lower. This will tell lenders that your debt is at a manageable level relative to your income, and you are likely to have money left over for saving or spending after you pay your bills.

In addition to the steps listed above, there are many free resources available that can help you improve and manage your credit. Wells Fargo recently launched Path to Good Credit, a new website that offers videos, tips, quizzes and infographics that illustrate how good credit can help consumers succeed financially. For more information, visit www.wellsfargo.com/buildcredit.

Take steps now to improve your credit for a solid financial future.

Lucas County Commissioners Announce Resolution Urging Congress to Oppose “Fast Track” Trade Authority

Congresswoman Mary Kaptur Joins Lucas County Commissioners in Opposition of “Fast Track” of Trans-Pacific Partnership Trade Agreement

The Board of Lucas County Commissioners held a press conference this morning to announce a resolution calling upon members of the U.S. Congress to oppose granting “Fast Track” authority to negotiate the Trans-Pacific Partnership Trade Agreement.

The Commissioners were joined by Congresswoman Mary Kaptur and Bruce Baumhower, President of United Auto Workers Local 12 who discussed the status of this legislation and the potential impact the Trans-Pacific Partnership Trade Agreement will have on workers and jobs here in Lucas County.

Lucas County Commissioners Tina Skeldon Wozniak, Pete Gerken, and Carol Conrado urged Congress to oppose granting the Office of the United States Trade Representative “Fast Track” authority to expedite congressional consideration of the Trans-Pacific Partnership Trade Agreement (TPP). Trade Promotion Authority, also known as “Fast Track,” delegates Congress’ authority to set terms of international commerce to the Executive Branch. This type of policymaking severely impedes the democratic process of lawmaking and cuts legislators out of important legislative procedures.

In the past, “Fast Track” authority has resulted in NAFTA-style trade deals that have shipped local jobs overseas and closed manufacturing facilities while giving financial breaks to multinational corporations.

The Board of Lucas County Commissioners offered this statement: “There is no room to repeat the mistakes of so-called “fair trade” deals of the past. It is vital to our democracy and our economic interests that Congress has the opportunity to review and amend provisions in proposed trade deals. We ask Congress to oppose “Fast Track” to ensure our labor force is protected here at home and support fair trade that promotes American job growth and environmental stewardship.”

“We have seen the consequences of Fast Track trade agreements that have dismantled Northern Ohio industries and shipped our jobs overseas,” said Congresswoman Kaptur. “Decades of bad trade policy have outsourced good jobs, closed manufacturing facilities, hobbled our economy and abandoned countless working families here and around the country. This is the legacy of our current U.S. trade policy. Fast-Tracking another bad deal with another blank check is irresponsible and will dig us deeper into deficit. We need a new model for U.S. trade, and we need to renegotiate the bad trade deals of the past, I proposed legislation earlier this year called the Balancing Trade Act of 2015 to do just that. We need to stop selling out America’s working families and never again Fast-Track another bad trade deal.”
The Sojourner's Truth

Welcome to My Breakdown By Benilde Little

By Terri Schlichenmeyer
The Truth Contributor

You’re tired of having red eyes.
You’re tired of crying, too; tired of an empty soul, runny nose, and dry mouth but you know there are more tears inside you and they need to come out. Whoever said that big girls don’t cry needs to know that that’s not true; as in the new book Welcome to My Breakdown by Benilde Little, sometimes crying is only the beginning.

For many years, Clara Little liked to say that she knew her last child would be a girl. She predicted it, and it happened – perhaps through force of will because, says her daughter, Clara was that kind of person: self-reliant and strong.

Clara worked long overnight shifts, but made sure that her house was spotless. She helped care for her neighbors and her family, giving her children a good upper-middle-class life at a time when that was a rare thing in their mostly-African-American New Jersey community. Her giving spirit and her no-nonsense personality remained well-known for the rest of her life, and when Clara died, her many friends mourned along with her family.

For Benilde Little, the death of her mother was a crushing blow – the biggest in a series of events that bruised her already-fragile, sensitive soul. Two months prior, Little lost her father-in-law. After her mother’s death, her best friend’s mother died, the financial market collapsed, the Littles’ income fell, Little’s dog got sick, menopausal symptoms exacerbated, and her husband was diagnosed with cancer.

For months, Little could barely function without dissolving in tears. She had trouble getting out of bed, she stopped calling on friends, and her writing career all but halted. Seemingly everybody had advice and most offered support but, powerless to pull herself up and knowing that this was more than just grief, Little began seeking help for a diagnosis of clinical depression. She tried therapy sessions, prescriptions, distractions, and exercise but she still couldn’t stop crying and she couldn’t erase certain mental images that plagued her. There were good days, but they were eclipsed by the very, very bad ones - until she began to see things that further opened her eyes.

We’ve all had times in our lives when nothing goes right. Welcome to My Breakdown, shows what it feels like when one of Those Days lasts for years.

Indeed, although it’s hard to accurately explain the depths of depression or grief, author Benilde Little still gives readers a good sense of the senseless, and of the confusion that’s felt when one is completely, totally powerless to explain why certain harmful emotions are so sticky and can’t abate. We’re also taken on a trip through a few of the various treatments that work – and don’t – before Little finds a shaky conclusion.

Be aware that there’s quite a bit of back-story filler and empty name-dropping here but since this book could be a comfort to anyone experiencing grief or depression, the payoff might be worth the journey. For that person, Welcome to My Breakdown could be a memoir well-read.

Myrtice Walker Celebrates Her 100th Birthday with Friends

Myrtice Walker

Myrtice Walker was born in Macon County, Georgia – probably Montezuma, GA – and moved to Swanton, OH as a child with her family. That birth took place 100 years ago and on Friday, April 24 – two days before her birthday – she celebrated the event at the Spencer Township Neighborhood Center in Holland, OH.

The actual birth place is uncertain because her records are incomplete. It is known that she had 12 older siblings. It is also known that she received no formal schooling in the segregated South but taught herself to read and write. She still reads from her favorite book, the Bible, every night.

Walker married Oscar “Peter” Walker during World War II whom she met while she was working in an airplane factory. Oscar Walker died in 1978. He built the home in Swanton parts factory. Myrtice Walker is a member of Love Organization for United Advocates

From Mfinity and Beyond: The Culp Sisters

By Carla Yvette

The “M” in Mfinity stands for Monika, Marisa and Merce’ Culp. The three talented sisters produced their first annual Mfinity Fashion Show held at the Artomatic 419! April 25, One Lake Erie Center downtown. The runway exhibition featured all original artwork from photographs, digital graphics, paintings, and sketches through textile and consisted of 630 original images. Hundreds gathered to watch models from John Casablancas and P. Marie Talent Management model apparel for men and women from the sister’s individual collections.

The event also launched their new brand MMMprint FASHION that includes their latest artistic apparel and accessories.

DJ Money Mike opened the show and provided music for the runway exhibition.
